INTRODUCTION

In an effort to assist with obtaining dates of publication for natural history works, I have been collecting references to these dating sources. These are found primarily as articles pertaining to the publication and dating of books and serial publications, but evidence for dating can also be found in large bibliographies and other books pertaining to bibliographical research, nomenclature, and taxonomy. To bring this information to a wide array of users, I have created this bibliography of sources of the dating of zoological works. As dating research continues, additions and corrections are incorporated into the master file with updates to this source list published periodically. Most editions have been updated ca. every three years. The original compilation was published in 2008 as Bishop Museum Technical Report 47, the second edition in 2011 as Bishop Museum Technical Report 56, the third edition in 2015 as Bishop Museum Technical Report 64, and the fourth edition Bishop Museum Technical Report 71 with a greatly expanded. This fifth edition includes dozens of new papers as well as corrections and updates to citation of works in previous editions of this series. Authors who have published papers dealing with any aspects of dating or bibliographic research are requested to send details for inclusion in future revised lists.

The first such catalog was published by Francis Griffin, Charles Davies Sherborn, & H.S. Marshall in the first volume of the Journal of the Society for the Bibliography of Natural History in 1936. Four supplement catalogs appeared in subsequent years with the last published in 1962. Since then, compiling updates to that catalog of references has for the most part ceased to exist, although private lists in the hands of many taxonomists are known as are published lists in various taxonomic categories.

The first such catalogs that appeared in the Journal of the Society for the Bibliography of Natural History pertained to all of natural history including zoology, geology, mineralogy, and botany. I have incorporated all the previous listings in the catalogs of sources that appeared in the Journal of the Society for the Bibliography of Natural History but have restricted them, as well as the items in this list, to just zoological sources. Dating of botanical taxonomic works has been covered in detail by the multi-volume Taxonomic

Literature II of Stafleu & Cowan and successors. Readers will find accurate dating in that reference work as well as large lists of sources for the dates of publication of those botanical works. Some of the references in that work are listed here when they pertain also to zoology.

FORMAT

This list given here is divided into two parts: books and serial (i.e., journal) publications. The first part contains sources of dating of books, pamphlets, and single and multi-part material not considered a serial publication. This section also includes author's separates and reprints of journal articles for which priority has not been ascertained from either the separate or the journal version. The second part contains sources of dating of journals and other serial publications. Cross-indexing is done to works that may be considered as belonging to either in order to assist in their location in this compilation.

"Dating" is here defined as giving evidence for a date within the year of publication (month and/or day) or, for multi-part works, at a minimum giving a collation of parts with years of each part and pages or plates contained therein. This can be an actual date or date within the work itself giving a minimum (not-before) date (e.g., preface date or date of a reference cited). Some of the dating information contained in the works in the list of sources below are not necessarily novel research when an author merely copied the dating results of previous works. Nonetheless, all works that have been found to contain some sort of dating information are listed in order that the list be as complete as possible. The reason for inclusion of works providing collation of parts with only the year given is to provide for future workers information on the actual contents, which may ultimately lead to better dating of those parts.

This fifth edition follows the format of the fourth edition with unabbreviated titles for all entries and journals as well as initials for all authors' names. Corrections to typographical errors, errors derived from OCR scanning anomalies, re-formatting, alphabetization problems, and others are not noted, but all new entries and major changes since the fourth edition are noted in red. A total of 2,851 books are listed and 420 journals.

BRIEF LIST OF MAJOR SOURCES

The following are some of the major sources with information on dating that have been used for this list. A more complete list of other sources for obtaining dates of publication (publisher's recording journals, reviews of literature, etc.) can be found in Evenhuis (1997: 19–25; 29–36).

CAVEAT

This is not intended to be considered a complete work. Every effort has been made through online searches, shelf searches in libraries, and perusal of bibliographies (as well as correspondence with colleagues and resulting citations and/or copies of publications) to compile as complete a list as possible. Errors will exist and works will have been missed. This is an unfortunate reality of human-based lists. Readers are thus urged to send us any corrections to this list as well as copies of works that have been missed.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Many have assisted us in our bibliographical research. Those who have generously sent articles dealing with dating or have alerted us to their existence are thanked for their help. Special thanks go to Miguel Alonso-Zarazaga, Aaron Bauer, Yves Bousquet, Murray Bruce, Eugene Coan, Robert Cowie, Edward Dickinson, the late Lucius Eldredge, David W. Forbes, Stephen Gaimari, Alan Kabat, Gerardo Lamas, Martyn, E.Y. Low, Thomas Pape, Alan Peterson, the late Richard Petit, Aasheesh Pittie, William Poly, Adrian Pont, Richard Pyle, Mikael Sörensen, and the late F. Christian Thompson for their generosity, advice, and corrections; as well as the many others who have helped with this effort.
